Creating Workplace Gender Equity

OUR MISSION: create gender equity in the workplace by transforming the beliefs and behaviors that obstruct women’s success

He threw a chair at me for ‘not knowing my place as a woman’! HR said it was my fault for being too aggressive, so I left. I’m couch-surfing until I find another job flexible enough to care for my family as a single mom.

Workplace gender equity takes hard work, but economic and social prosperity depends on it

OUR PLAN:

Create the Gender Equity Collaborative (“Collaborative”): nationwide network that reinvigorates America’s gender equity movement, transforms workplaces into environments where women’s voices are heard and valued, and establishes gender equity as a cultural norm in workplaces across the nation

Objectives

- √ Recruit Partners: businesses, municipalities and agencies, organizations, academic partners, individual leaders
- √ Strengthen a critical mass of voices who deserve workplace gender equity
- √ Correlate workplace gender equity to social equality for women as one solution for homelessness, single-mother poverty, etc.

Launch the Gender Equity Portal: online information center for workplace gender equity that aggregates valuable resources, including: articles, community organizations, online tools

Objectives

- ✓ Address and serve needs of diverse working populations to increase gender equity awareness at every socioeconomic level
- ✓ Provide women with convenient and reliable tool for making good decisions about where, when, and how to work
- ✓ Help companies with best practices and groundwork for formal gender equity initiatives

Build the Gender Equity Consultancy: customized services that develop true workplace gender equity

Objectives

- ✓ Work closely with corporations and local governments to define and implement action plans
- ✓ Measure and report on progress
- ✓ Maintain long-term momentum

Studies tell us San Diego will thrive with the Collaborative.

- Productivity growth by $23 billion by 2025
- Single-mother poverty reduced by nearly half
- Employee productivity increased among women and men
- Increased impact by social services on their clients

Let's shake up the status quo. Currently...

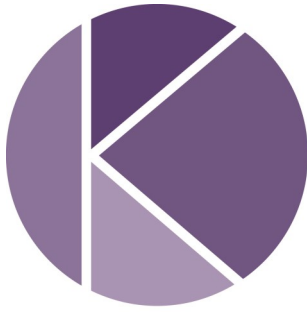

- Women hold only about 12% of C-Suite positions in San Diego's publicly traded companies
- Women hold 33% fewer management positions than men
- Men and women need more effective workplace policies to accommodate caregiving responsibilities
- Over 1/3 of single mothers live in poverty, more than any other demographic, and children suffer most

About the Kim Center

The nonprofit Kim Center empowers communities to transform their beliefs and behaviors for the benefit of their citizens. We value clarity of purpose and dedication to progress, emotional intelligence, and mindfulness of our actions and our impact on others.
